To Whom It May Concern:

It is with enthusiasm that I support Jim Donak as a coach, teacher, trainer. I have known him for nearly thirty years and watched as he has become the sought-after, skilled and generous person he is today.

Jim has invested thirty-five years in researching, exploring, studying, and training in aspects of the human anatomy so that students and other teachers can benefit from his expertise. His wisdom comes from years of attentive, precise, and thoughtful work, as well as the gift of insight that only those who are truly devoted to the work can manifest.

Both academically and in practical application he continues to refine and apply his knowledge so that students of all levels can find and maintain sustainable working practices in their physical forms. He has taught world-wide and is a world class instructor.
